Message From the President

"I'm not alone in feeling that this winter so far has been a dreary disappointment; however, it's the perfect time to get creative indoors. There has been lots of positive feedback on our Tabletop/Macro workshop, hopefully it was an inspiration for those who attended, and served to get the creative juices flowing. For some nifty ideas check out my latest post on Facebook ; "52 Photography Projects- a photo idea to try every week of the year." The beauty of this form of photography is that most often, simple setups are all that is needed. A tripod, window light, a black (or indeed any colour) background, and the possibilities are endless. Collect items found around the house; shop dollar and second hand shops for interesting subjects; even the grocery store can provide subjects such as fruits, vegetables and flowers for still life subjects. Add liquids and experiment with splash. Freeze flowers in distilled water for something truly unique. I have been a subscriber to Mike Moats' blog ever since I attended one of his workshops at the Can Am Photo Expo a few years back. Check out his website at <http://www.tinylandscapes.com/> for further inspiration.

Speaking of this year's Can Am Photo Expo, the final schedule is being worked out and as always, promises a stellar lineup of presenters. The opportunities for workshops and hands on learning keeps expanding every year. Programs are designed to appeal to every skill level.
